The Thing for Poor Land.

Probably the largest crop of beans ever seen in Nelson or adjoining counties was grown this year by Mr. J. P. Comstock on the Nicholas farm, belonging to the Lancaster estate. Mr. Comstock had about twelve acres in beans, from which he raised about 300 bushels. He says, with the exception of threshing, beans are no harder to cultivate than corn, and at the price they are now selling, the profits are greater. -Nelson Record.

IMPORTANT NEWS-PAPER CHANGE.

Henry Watterson's Courier-Journal Announces a New Policy.

During Three Decades the Louisville Courier-Journal has stood unalterably and conspicuously before the public as the representative of the great com-monality of the people against both the Robber Baron, seeking through the ac-creation of ill-got money to steal away the people's liberty by stealing away their franchise rights, and the readytool of the Robber Baron, the bandit politician, masquerading as a Statesman and a patriot the better to serve the ends of his master. In fulfilling this high function it has sometimes had to go fast and sometimes to go slow, someto cry "halt," sometimes to drive at the root of things, and sometimes to drive ahead; but never changing the direction of its movement and always true to the underlying principle of its mand for "The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number."

With the advent of the New Year that is on the first of January, 1903, the Courier-Journal began a campaign jects it has before it, the twice-a-week edition has changed to a once-a-week edition, returning to the old Weekly Courier-Journal, which for a quarter of a century was literally a political bible to millions of Americans who knew they could trust both its prescience and its disinterestedness.

The new Weekly Courier-Journal is modern in every respect, and is a paper tor the home. It is issued every Wednesday, and its ten or twelve eight column pages are filled with the best work of the best writers. The price of the paper is $1 a year, in advance, and it is well worth it.
